

Charles Cielo

Charles Cielo oversees Intralink's Life Sciences practice in Japan, helping overseas companies – including Personalis - navigate market entry and find their place in the unique Japanese healthcare ecosystem. A bioengineer by training, scientist by vocation and businessman by trade, he's proficient in three languages and worked for global big pharma prior to joining Intralink.

Intralink is an international business development and innovation consultancy specialising in Asia. Founded in 1990 and headquartered in Oxford, the company has 130 bilingual employees across 15 offices in Asia, Europe and North America.

Intralink has completed assignments for over a thousand scaleups, SMEs, corporates & governments with a focus on enabling technologies across key growth sectors including energy, mobility, IT, and healthcare & life sciences.